ALPHA LIPOIC ACID

A Powerful Antioxidant!

Alpha Lipoic Acid (lipoic acid, thioctic acid, ALA)

Scientists discovered the importance of alpha lipoic acid in the 1950's and recognized it as an antioxidant in 1988. Alpha lipoic acid is found naturally inside every cell in the body. In the cell its primary responsibility is to assist in the conversion of glucose to energy.*

Alpha lipoic acid is a substance that helps neutralize potentially harmful chemicals called free radicals. What makes alpha lipoic acid unique is that it functions in water and fat, unlike the more common antioxidants Vitamin C and E. Alpha lipoic acid may also help to recycle antioxidants such as Vitamin C and glutathione. Glutathione is an important antioxidant that helps the body eliminate potentially harmful substances. Alpha lipoic acid increases the formation of glutathione.*
